Britain Lauds Hitler's Talk

LONDON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain answered Adolf Hitler today with an assurance that Britain wanted friendship with Germany and declared Premier Mussolini had promised him to "stand loyally" behind the British-Italian agreement.

The British-Italian agreement provided, among other things, for maintenance of the status quo in the Mediterranean, where lie parts of the French colonial empire to which Italians recently have laid claim.

Chamberlain told the House of Commons of his January 11-14 visit to Rome and declared the Spanish civil war was the chief barrier between France and Italy. He said he saw no prospect of an agreement between them until the war ended.

He also said Mussolini had told him he had nothing to ask of Spain after the war.

PRAISES HITLER TALK

The House resumed sessions today after a five weeks' year-end recess, and Chamberlain launched immediately into praise of Hitler's speech to the Reichstag yesterday.

Government supporters cheered as he entered the chamber. There was a generally relieved atmosphere after Hitler's address.

Outside Commons women supporters of Sir Oswald Mosley's British Fascists and Spanish refu-

Stocks Higher Here, Abroad

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 — Wall Street joined Europe in buying stocks and bonds today as an aftermath of Adolf Hitler's speech.

Echoing a rise in European markets, many stocks pushed up $1 to around $2 before the rally stalled and prices eased. Brokers saw Hitler's speech as milder than anticipated.

LONDON, Jan. 31 (AP)—European stock markets reacted favorably today to Hitler's expression of hope for a "long peace." Security prices shot up from 2 to more than 10 per cent.

London led the forward movement with universal buying of American stocks.

Berlin prices advanced sharply in the morning, but receded in the afternoon. At Paris there was a cautious rise throughout the day.

Escapes Jail In Smuggling

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (INS)—Comedian George Burns, who recently pleaded guilty to smuggling charges, today was given a suspended prison sentence of a year and a day and fined $8000.

Burns is the husband of his radio and film partner, Gracie Allen.

In suspending the prison sentence, Federal Judge Bondy placed Burns on probation for the year and a day.

The judge explained that the screen comic's "co-operation" merited the leniency.

Burns was given 10 days in which to pay his fine, which is in addition to $9770 in customs penalties, which he has already paid.

He has also surrendered to the government agents the jewelry which he purchased for Gracie Allen and which allegedly was smuggled into the United States for him by Albert Chaperau.

ASSAILS "SMUGGLERS"

In sentencing the radio and screen star, Judge Bondy assailed "rich people who often are able to compromise customs cases in Washington."

The charge against Burns originated in the indictment of Chap-

27 MICROSCOPES SEIZED IN X-RAY SCHOOL PROBE

As an inquiry, resulting from complaints by prominent doctors, the Better Business Bureau and other agencies, began today into the affairs of the Boston Institute of Laboratory and X-ray Technique, 27 of the school's 55 microscopes were removed at noon by their owners.

Earlier the Jackson Chair Company had taken away chairs rented to the school, and, it was said, other firms that had sold or rented equipment to the institution would reclaim their properties.

In the meantime the school, strangely, continued open, but with no apparent director in charge. The students, mostly girls, were advised to leave, but refused.

And if the school has no head, that condition, according to employes, wasn't apparent last week when Irving Jacobs, then officially its director, paid them off as usual.

Jacobs, reached at his home in Whittemore road, Newton, asserted, however, that he had resigned "two weeks ago."

The school, according to com-

Swirling, Drifting Snows Halt Traffic Here

Storm Deaths Reach 5; Cold Blast Grips N. E.

A WPA watchman, employed on a project in West Roxbury, died of exposure today, bringing storm deaths to five, as biting cold gripped New England in the wake of the season's worst blizzard.

Fast dropping temperatures complicated the work of clearing streets and highways, blocked by snowfall varying from five inches in Greater Boston to two feet or more in the Berkshires and sections of New Hampshire and Maine.

Gales still lashed the North Atlantic coast and snow squalls continued to make navigation perilous.

Eastern Steamship sailings were cancelled.

The Cunard-White Star liner Andania, hove to over night off Boston harbor, finally went on to New York without attempting the ticklish passage through the narrows.

Her 67 Boston-bound passengers were to be sent here by train.

ANOTHER STORM DUE

Poor visibility and snow-drifted landing fields grounded most air transport.

The Cape Cod canal was closed.

Steamship lines and flying services hoped for resumption of normal service by nightfall. Weather forecast was for clearing skies and increased cold, with a new storm in prospect for Thursday.

Storm warnings still flew today from Eastport to the Virginia capes.

At high tide today, the Massachusetts coastline took a terrific pounding from heavy surf.

Freezing spray was whipped across beach highways by a near-zero blast.

COTTAGES PERILED

At Nantasket, Atlantic avenue was cut off and waves broke against the foundations of waterfront cottages.

Along Winthrop breaches cellars of many year-around homes were flooded and furnace fires extinguished.

The short beach boulevard was blocked and not only the boulevard but a dozen cross streets also were flooded in the section.

Highway conditions remained highly hazardous, with top snow drifting deeply and road surfaces icy and treacherous. Trains con-

PRAY FOR DADDY'S RETURN—Saul Haletky of Dorchester left home last Tuesday to look for work and hasn't returned since. Now Mrs. Haletky, shown with baby Gerald, asks aid in finding him. They have been praying daily for his return.

Worcester Girl Violinist, Dad Willed $140,000

WORCESTER, Jan. 31—Just a little bewildered, Axel W. Erickson, 62-year-old "old-fashioned mechanic," learned today that he and his concert-violinist daughter have each been bequeathed $70,000 by a New York patron of music.

The bequests are contained in the will of Charles Frank Pope, retired manufacturer, Pope, with his wife, met Miss Alice E. Erickson, after a violin recital in New York eight years ago.

WON'T STOP WORKING

Since then the Popes have become friends with the Ericksons, but Erickson said today, as he prepared to go to his work bench, that he "never expected anything like this."

"Alice and her mother are in New York," said Erickson slowly, "and I suppose they will be surprised, too.

"No, I do not think such a thing can make any difference in my life. I am too used to working. I like work.

"For Alice it will help her in her studies, of course, but Mr. and Mrs. Pope have always been very kind to her.

DIVIDES HUGE ESTATE

Pope died two weeks ago in New York and in his will, filed for probate in New York, he divides an estate of a million and a quarter among numerous relatives and friends.

Nearly three years ago Miss Erickson, whose home is with the family in Huntington avenue here, received a gift of a 200-year-old violin, worth $6000, but declined to say who the donor was.

Another beneficiary under the will, it was learned, is Dr. Charles W. Bell of Farmington, Me., who receives $40,000.

"It must be a mistake," was Dr. Bell's comment in Farmington when told of the bequest.

He said his only contact with the 84-year-old New Yorker was two years ago when Pope entered the doctor's office and was treated for a lame knee.

After the two men had talked about the 35 years Pope had spent as a summer visitor to the Rangeley Lakes area, the New Yorker abruptly wrote out a check for $20,000 for Franklin County Hospital in Maine, with which Dr. Bell is connected—then left the office.

SEABISCUIT RIDER WINS HUB NURSE

A race track-hospital romance that will be climaxed shortly in a marriage between a pretty nurse and a famous jockey was revealed today by George Holland, Boston Evening American "Boston After Dark" columnist.

Walking to the altar soon (the exact date is a deep, dark secret) will be John "Red" Pollard, renowned rider of the champion of horses, Seabiscuit, and Miss Agnes Conlon, a nurse at the Winthrop Community Hospital, according to Holland.

Friends of the attractive nurse were surprised today to learn of her impending nuptials, as no previous word of them had been voiced.

Though Miss Conlon was anxious to keep details in the background the romantic stage setting is no secret.

Pollard broke his leg while working out a horse at Suffolk Downs and was taken to the Winthrop hospital.

In the days of his convalescence he met his future bride, and the crisp efficiency of nursing mellowed slowly into love.

Before he left the hospital Pollard had received the proverbial "Yes" to the proverbial question. Miss Conlon admitted the "Yes," but about other items concerning the romance she was attractively shy.

"We're just going to be married," she said. "The date? Well, why don't you ask Mr. Pollard about that?"

Arraign Brulatour On Gun Complaint

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (INS) — Jules Brulatour, 68, millionaire film manufacturer and husband of Hope Hampton, former film and opera star, was scheduled for arraignment in felony court today on a charge of illegally possessing the gun with which he claimed he accidentally shot himself January 22.

Brulatour's wound was not serious.

Ill Baby Cries for His Dad

Frantic over the disappearance of her husband and serious illness of their baby boy, Rose Haletky, 19, of Lyford street, Dorchester, appealed today to the Boston Evening American to aid in the search.

Saul Haletky

"My husband never had any difficulties with anyone," she said today. "I'm so afraid he has been in some sort of accident and needs me.

"I want him home badly. Little Gerald—that's my nine-months-old baby—has been crying ever since he left and he's quite a sick baby right now."

The pretty young mother fears that her mate, Saul Haletky, 21, known in vaudeville circles as Paul Hale, is the victim of foul play or may be in some serious trouble.

A week ago today, Haletky left to arrange booking date with a Boston agency for his specialty—roller skating. He is a well known artist and has appeared at Boston night clubs and theaters.

HUB SET FOR TAXI SHIFT

With only the expected signature of Mayor Tobin necessary to throw private taxi stands open to all cabs, Police Commissioner Timilty today set his department wheels in motion in anticipation of considerable confusion.

It was reported at police headquarters that the commissioner probably would assign more men to the hackney carriage bureau, some of the additional men to be taken from the detective bureau.

With Mayor Tobin's signing of the taxicab stand order passed by the city council, upholding last November's referendum, 1397 taxis in Boston become affected.

153 PRIVATE STANDS GO

There will be 153 private taxi stands abolished, principally at hotels, railroad terminals, public and semi-public buildings.

These special stands accommodate, at one time, 474 cabs. Of these, 300 are Checker cabs, 52 are Town Taxis, 27 are ITOA, 12 are Boston cabs and 74 others are various independents.

It was reported today that some hotels would abolish taxi stands entirely and merely have cabs on call from the nearest parking places—this involving, however, a matter of parking fees.

The taxi order and the order sanctioning construction of a dog track at Readville were passed as the climax to two of the most bitterly-waged city council fights in years.

SILENT ON DOG TRACK

The mayor awaited only receipt from the city clerk of the order to throw open taxi stands, to affix his signature. He publicly stated that the mandate of the people in favoring such action in referendum at the last election should be carried out by the city law-makers.

But on the matter of the Readville dog track, Mayor Tobin was silent. Already he has vetoed, without prejudice, a similar approval voted by the council two weeks ago.

Under the law, he has 15 days to either veto or approve the order. Should he refuse to sign, the order becomes law at the expiration of that time.

The dog track was approved 16 to 5 and the public taxi stands 18 to 2.

The two councilors to vote against public stands were Perlie D. Chase and Theodore Lyons, while Councilor William J. Galvin asked to be excused from voting at all because of the recent controversy concerning a visit to Independent Taxi Owners' Association officials.

Says Westport Papers Asked By Ex-Official

In a startling revelation, Deputy State Tax Commissioner Francis O. P. Carlson told the Boston Evening American today that Thomas R. Foley, three days before he was named to the State Racing Commission, took out papers of incorporation for the new proposed Westport horse track.

Foley and former State Senator George G. Moyse of Waltham were named racing commissioners in December by former Governor Hurley.

Several days after they were given the posts, they voted conflicting racing dates for the new Westport track (Outdoor Amusements, Incorporated) and Suffolk Downs (The Eastern Racing Association), with Westport receiving the cream of the dates.

This was against the protest of the then Governor-elect Saltonstall, and both Foley and Moyse resigned under fire when Saltonstall took office.

Thomas A. Foley

Foley was named a racing commissioner by Governer Hurley on December 16.

Today, Deputy Carlson, who lives in Winchester, made the following statement to the Boston Evening American:

"On December 13 last Thomas R. Foley called at the division of corporations and took out papers of incorporation for Outdoor Amusements, Inc.

"He talked with a clerk in the department and said he wanted the papers rushed through and approved, but he also said he wanted them held up until they asked that they be released.

"The clerk came to me and told me what had been said by Foley. I told her that I guessed we could hold them back for a couple of days, although it was unusual.

RELEASED PAPERS

"Then I read in the newspapers about the race board meeting and became suspicious. I said to myself, 'This is getting too hot for me to hold,' and I told the clerk to get in touch with Foley and tell him the papers would be released immediately.

'The clerk did not do so, and so I called up Foley and told him.

"Then, on that day—December 21, last—I sent the papers along to the secretary of state's office and they were made public.

"The papers of incorporation were issued and approved on December 13, the day that Foley applied for them, but were not sent to the secretary of state's office until December 21. He paid the minimum fee of $50 on December 13 for the papers.

NOTATION ERASED

"When the papers left my office for the secretary of state's office there was a notation in pencil on the back of them stating that a Tremont street law firm was to be notified when the papers were approved.

"The clerk in my office made that notation. I had also written on the back of the papers the telephone number.

"When the papers were returned to my office from the secretary of state's office the penciled notation of the law firm's name had been erased."

BILL CHARGED CONSPIRACY

Foley is a brother-in-law of James F. Connors, who resigned as president of the Eastern Racing Association last month.

In a bill in equity filed in superior court, following Connors' resignation and before the vote of Foley and Moyse to award choice racing dates to Westport, the Eastern Racing Association charged a conspiracy by Foley, Moyse and Conners to injure Suffolk Downs financially.

The order of notice for hearing on the bill had barely been issued when Foley and Moyse, the two new Hurley appointees on the racing commission, outvoted Chairman Charles F. Connors (no relation to the former Suffolk Downs head) and awarded the racing dates.

COURT ACTION DROPPED

As a result of the old commission's vote, which defeated the purpose of the bill in equity, the court action was dropped by Eastern Racing.

On the papers of Outdoor Aumsements, Inc., the subscribers to the stock are named as Daniel J. Collins, Prospect street, Fall River; Joseph A. Reagan, Hanover street, Fall River, and John Earnshaw, Westamoe street, Fall River.

Three shares of stock were listed as issued, presumably to the three named.

Collins is listed as president, Reagan as treasurer and Earnshaw as clerk, with the corporation authorized to issue 5000 shares of stock.

Waltham Cottage Fire Laid to Incendiary

A spectacular fire, visible for miles, destroyed an unoccupied five-room cottage on Bramore avenue hill, Waltham, today.

Police said they believed the blaze was of incendiary origin. Damage was set at $1500. The cottage was owned by Mrs. Mary Owens of Pearl street, Cambridge.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (INS)—House Majority Leader Sam Rayburn announced today that Democratic leaders had agreed to a continuation of the Dies committee investigating un-American activities.

Decision of the Democratic leaders to permit Rep. Martin Dies (D.) of Texas, to continue the investigation for another year at a cost of $100,000, was revealed exclusively Saturday night by International News Service. The proposal has overwhelming support in the House.

Formal agreement on the proposition was reached at a meeting between Speaker Bankhead, Rayburn, Dies and Democrats on the Rules and Dies committees.

MADRID SHELLED IN NEW DRIVE

PERPIGNAN, France, Jan. 31 (INS)—The civil war in Spain ground remorselessly on today toward the climax that seems inevitable.

While a "death division" of Spanish government troops made a last—and apparently hopeless—stand against Insurgent forces in Catalonia, warfare burst out anew in other sections of the strife-torn nation.

Insurgent shells crashed into Madrid, for the first time since Christmas, but casualties were few, according to advices reaching Perpignan.

From Salamanca, Insurgent authorities attached to Generalissimo Francisco Franco's staff said the Insurgent forces, still spurred by their triumph in Barcelona, were advancing to the north.

In a forward thrust that carried them five miles closer to the French Pyrenees border, it was claimed, Franco's relentless troops occupied several more towns and villages and took 1500 prisoners.

Barcelona Reds Executed 20,000

Special to Boston American

BARCELONA, Jan. 31—"At least 20,000 persons were executed or assassinated by the Communists in Barcelona since July, 1936."

That was a statement made today by Anna Jolly, British widow of a Spanish manufacturer, who vividly described at first hand the "reign of terror" which choked this Queen City of Spain under the Red regime here before Generalissimo Franco's victory.

"The terror here was something indescribable," Mrs. Jolly said.

"I can't begin to give you an accurate figure, but I can assure you that 20,000 people were killed in Barcelona in the past two years and a half.

HUNGER AND MURDER

"You probably wondered at the demonstrations of joy by the city's populace when the Nationalists entered last Thursday.

"Those manifestations were the result of terror, hun ' and murder endured under more than two years of Red rule.

"If the Nationalists had taken the city early in the war you would not have seen that reaction. A Nationalist victory would not have been popular then, but experience under the Red tyranny seems to have changed all that.

"Feeling was so strong against the Reds here toward the end that only the strongest methods of terror and oppression kept them in power.

NEVER CAME BACK

"The Ravaffada Mounties have a meaning of horror for all of us. These Red officials performed most of the executions.

"They came to this building in the early days of the war and arrested Juan Par. Because Par was ill, his wife asked permission to accompany and take care of him. She went, but her husband never came back.

"Many elderly couples were arrested and never tried as far as anyone knows.

"Alfonso Par, brother of the owner of this building, also was arrested, but he was not killed. My cousin, Antonio Viver, who is 50, has two sons who were arrested in January, 1938. They were taken to a prison and later shipped aboard the prison ship Uruguay.

"The Reds were suspected of being savages—they were. Vivier's son, Ramon, was tortured in an electric chair until his legs and wrists were badly seared. This was done before the eyes of his father.

"The Reds told the father they would kill his son unless he told what he knew of the activities of the young man.

"'Go ahead and kill him. I can tell you nothing,' Antonio told them.

"They kept the son in the prison ship for several months and finally confined him in a regular prison where he remained until Thursday when the Nationalists entered.

France Calls 50,000 To Guard Refugees

PERPIGNAN, France, Jan. 31 (AP)—Additional motorized French troops arrived at the French-Spanish frontier today and newspapers reported they were the vanguard of large forces being sent to place the refugee-crowded area under strict military control.

One newspaper, l'Independent of Perpignan, placed the number of troops to be sent to the district at 50,000. It said Raoul Didkowski, prefect of the Pyrenees-Oriental department, had requested them and that the government had consented.

Death from exposure and hunger was said to be taking a heavy toll from thousands of refugees gathered at the Spanish side of the border seeking admission into France.

In snow-capped mountains at Bourg-Madame French and Spanish border guards sought a caravan of 600 refugees believed lost in an attempt to cross the frontier. No 'ing has been heard from them since yesterday morning.

Searchers likewise were hunting 1500 refugees reported trapped by snow in Tosas Pass.

BIRTHDAY BALL HERE NETS $20,000

Governor Saltonstall, Mayor Tobin and the President's son John were among the 18,000 who flocked to the Boston Garden to make the Franklin D. Roosevelt birthday ball a success, and add $20,000 to the fund for the control and eventual conquest of infantile paralysis.

In spite of the storm and the bad driving and footing, it was one of the biggest and most enthusiastic gatherings ever housed in the Garden.

Of the money realized, 50 per cent will go to the National Foundation for the drive on infantile paralysis, the other half will be retained in Suffolk County to fight the same disease and do rehabilitation work here.

Mal Hallett's orchestra played during the ceremony of the cutting of the President's birthday cake, which was seven feet high.

Bands of the William L. Harris post and Alexander Graham Bell post of the American Legion opened the program, Dot Slamin of Waltham giving a brilliant exhibition of baton twirling.

Boston's police drill team gave an exposition of maneuvering, the band of the Lady of Mount Carmel played.

Other musical organizations were the drum and bugle corps of Old Dorchester post, A. L., the Sacred Heart Church band of Malden, Boston fire department band, Kevin Barry Irish pipers, the bugle corps of Holy Name Church in West Roxbury, Norman Prince post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Movie Stars Guests at 7 Capital Balls

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Far into this morning, dancers and diners over the nation carried on their celebration of President Roosevelt's 56th birthday anniversary, in the interest of stamping out infantile paralysis.

A dozen movie, stage and radio actors who gathered in the White House to hear the President broadcast his thanks to celebrants at 25,000 parties, were honor guests at seven capital balls. They ended their complex schedule at 2 a. m., at a 25 "gold plate" hotel breakfast which several members of the Roosevelt family attended.

SON VERY ATTENTIVE

Franklin Roosevelt, Jr., the President's youngest son, bent his six-feet-four to whisper in the ear of Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean, owner of the Hope diamond, as she took her place as hostess of a party of 26. Her guests included Secretary and Mrs. Woodring, Attorney General Murphy and Secretary Perkins.

Betsy Roosevelt, wife of the President's eldest son, James, was laughing with friends at a table where Bruce Cabot, movie actor, was a guest. Officials estimated that 200 persons ate green turtle soup and breast of pheasant at the breakfast.

THOUSANDS DANCE

Several thousand others danced at the seven balls, which were highlighted by visits from Mrs. Roosevelt and the actors.

Mrs. Roosevelt, in red with a white fox fur, made the best time around the circuit. Beginning late, at 10:20 p. m., she attended seven dances, cut a birthday cake at the last one, and was back at the White House at 12:20 a. m., to greet guests after the broadcasts, to which she had listened attentively at her last stop.

In his brief talk, the President said:

"Infantile paralysis is an enemy that neither slumbers nor sleeps."

Vet Who Wed 'Blue Bird' Dies

DANBURY, Ct., Jan. 31 (AP)—Colonel Ira R. Wildman, 89, one of this city's two last survivors of the Civil War who three years ago married Mrs. Ella C. Bond of Oshkosh, Wis., "Blue Bird of the G. A. R.," died today at his home after a long illness.

Wildman's marriage to Mrs. Bond, his second wife, attracted nation-wide attention.

The "Blue Bird" and Wildman met in Cincinnati five years before their marriage and when the aged veteran and his bride-to-be greeted each other in New York the day before the wedding he pledged himself to work for the Grand Army of the Republic "until I am a hundred."

Mrs. Wildman was a niece of General Ambrose E. Burnside. She was dubbed the "Blue Bird" because of the colors she always wore as a high ranking officer in the Women's Relief Corps.

REPRESENTING his father at Birthday Ball, John Roosevelt is shown with Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. L. Sturgis reviewing the pageant of drum corps and bands that thrilled the more than 20,000 attending in sweet charity's name. It was announced that more than $20,000 has been raised here for paralysis fund.

All Norma's Air Profits to Aid Infantile

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (INS)—Norma Shearer, the movie actress, today pledged her entire lifetime's earnings from radio engagements to the national foundation for infantile paralysis, Keith Morgan, the foundation's president announced today.

Morgan said Miss Shearer had sent him a check for $15,000 covering in advance the fees she will receive for her next three broadcasts. If she makes more broadcasts this year she will contribute those salaries, too, as well as returns from forthcoming years.

"This is one of the most unselfish acts we have ever encountered," Morgan said.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—Representatives of the New York local of the American Federation of Radio Artists and the newly-formed Committee for Advertisers began negotiations today in an effort to avert a threatened strike of radio artists.

Walsh Labor Act Changes Up for Debate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—A confident prediction that Congress would revise the Wagner labor relations act came today from Senator Burke (D.) of Nebraska as the Senate labor committee took up modifications proposed by Senator Walsh (D.) of Massachusetts.

"I think the country is in a frame of mind to insist upon amendments this session," said Burke, frequent critic of the act and the board that administers it.

Chairman Thomas (D.) of Utah of the labor committee, on the other hand, announced opposition to any amendments "that will interfere with the proper workings of the law."

The Senate labor committee, in considering amendments to the Wagner act, was getting into one of the major problems facing this session of Congress.

The Walsh amendments were those sponsored by the American Federation of Labor, which has criticized labor board decisions as being partial to the CIO.

Senator Walsh said the nine proposed changes would "guarantee fair and equitable administration of the law by the labor relations board."

QUODDY BARRACKS DOOMED

EASTPORT, Me., Jan. 31—If a National Youth Administration project receives WPA approval, the demolition of the army engineer barracks here, site of the Passamaquoddy tidal power development, is certain, it was announced today. The barracks have been vacant since the project was abandoned.

'POISON PEN' NOTE TO CARNEY JUDGE

TAUNTON, Jan. 31—Just before he began to charge the jury in the case of Mayor Leo E. J. Carney, accused of having solicited a $25,000 bribe, Judge James C. Donnelly disclosed today that he had received an anonymous letter which charged that "it is easy to buy off the judge and jury" in cases of the kind at which this court is presiding.

Judge Donnelly, indignant, turned the letter over at once to postal authorities, with a request that if possible the writer be found, promising to prosecute personally if such a development ensues.

The judge completed his charge and gave the case into the hands of the jury at 11:47 a. m. The final charge included two counts of the indictment, three of the original five having been previously dismissed.

JUDGE READS NOTE

The letter, written in blue ink, and in what appears to be the handwriting of a woman, follows:

"Your Honor: From what I read in the papers I see that the man who should stand for justice, law and order—'I mean you!'—is encouraging crime by asking the jury to acquit Mayor Carney.

"Everybody knows he asked for the bribe, but according to law he is not guilty until so proven. The law states that you must not kill or steal, but if you have enough money, you can try it. You see, it is easy to buy off the judge and jury. It looks to me as if this is what had happened in this case.

SIGNED "JUSTICE"

"Mayor Carney has boasted that he will get away with it, and if you, his judge, keep ruling out evidence against hi myou will get the jury to do as you ask—acquit a man who is a menace to any city in our great country.

"If you judges continue to aid these men who are crooks but aren't called so because they have money—"

The letter there ends on an incomplete sentence, and is signed "Justice—A Good United States Citizen."

It was mailed to the judge at the Bristol County courthouse, Taunton.

Debt Home Grab Revision Asked

Governor Saltonstall today sent a representative before the legislative committee on legal affairs to urge revision of a law that was placed on the statutes 10 years before the Civil War.

The old law set the exemption on seizures of homes for indebtedness at $800.

Daniel J. Lynch, secretary to the governor, urged that the exemption be made higher, but left it to the legislature to set the amount.

Lynch pointed out that North Dakota, for exemple, allows $8000 in indebtedness before seizure of homes is allowed.

Navy Denies Plan to Fortify Guam at Present

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (INS)—In an "official" statement of the navy's policy on the proposed fortification of Guam, Assistant Secretary of Navy Charles Edison today declared that a pending $5,000,000 expansion program for the Pacific outpost does not constitute fortification.

But, in unmistakable terms, Edison reserved for the navy the right to seek authorization for actual fortification in the future "if unforeseen changes in the international situation should indicate a necessity for further development" of the little island.

Edison's statement was delivered before the House naval affairs committee at the insistence of Republican members who demanded that the navy make its intentions known.

Fair Travel At Low Rates

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (INS)—The nation's railroads today announced "grand-circle" fares, enabling travellers to visit both the New York and San Francisco World's Fairs and many points of scenic interest at considerably reduced rates.

The "grand-circle" fares," effective on April 28, are the first of their kind, according to J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads.

Under the plan an individual can purchase a "grand-circle" coach ticket for $90, or a first-class ticket for $135—plus regular sleeping or parlor car charges—permitting him to visit both fairs without retracing routes.

B'nai Brith Starts Americanism Drive

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—The executive committee of the B'Nai B'Rith, National Jewish organization, today adopted a program designed to popularize interest in and stimulate a rededication of the bill of rights.

The committee, at its annual meeting, decided to make the "Americanism" program a cardinal feature of the organization's 512 lodges.

Hub Greeter's Imported Car, Trips Are Told

Former City Greeter Thomas J. A. Johnson's costly imported Mercedes-Benz limousine had a sound-proofed driver's compartment and a rear-view mirror so arranged that the driver could not see his passengers, it was testified today.

The witness was Harvey Reese, Johnson's chauffeur from 1929 to 1932.

He was called to the stand, in Suffolk superior court, by counsel for Johnson's sister, Mrs. Lillian Johnson Halsey, plaintiff in a $25,000 suit against her deceased brother's estate.

Today's testimony turned from Johnson's palatial Magnolia estate, with its gold bed, its marble swimming pool and its lavish cocktail parties, to descriptions of the one-time city greeter's auto travel, servant staff and North Shore comings and goings.

SHOPPED TOGETHER

Chauffeur Reese was questioned at length concerning the design and appointments of Johnson's imported Mercedes-Benz car.

Asked what transpired when Johnson and Mrs. Halsey rode together in the big rolling palace on wheels, Reese testified he could overhear no conversation because the limousine was so made that the partition between driver's seat and tonneau was soundproof.

Neither could he see his passengers without turning his head around, Chauffeur Reese told the court.

He said the rear-view mirror, instead of being above and in front of the driver, was on a spare tire carrier on the runningboard of the car, to the left of the driver's seat.

Johnson and his sister, Mrs. Halsey, drove often from Magnolia to Boston to go shopping together, Reese testified.

He listed department stores they visited, including several at which Mrs. Halsey bought gold satin draperies and expensive modernistic pillows for the Johnson home, according to her previous testimony.

When Mrs. Halsey was sick in Phillips House, Massachusetts General Hospital, Reese took Johnson their daily with dainties for her, Reese testified.

TOOK SISTER HOME

He said Johnson took Mrs. Halsey to the John city house in Mt. Vernon place, Beacon Hill, to convalesce, as soon as she was able to leave the hospital.

An earlier witness today was Harry Hamel, Gloucester fireman.

He told of seeing Johnson and Mrs. Halsey walking together to and from church and on the beach.

Johnson appeared feeble and seemed to lean on Mrs. Halsey's arm, Hamel testified.

APPEARED SOLICITORS

He and Mrs. Halsey appeared solicitous for Johnson's comfort, tucking him in a blanket when it was chilly as they sat on the beach.

Cross-questioned on how it happened he was able to see all this, Fireman Hamel explained he used to cut the firehouse lawn, Sunday mornings, and watch church goers. He kept an eye on beach paraders from the window of the firehouse "loafing room," he testified.

He was asked:

"Isn't it a fact Johnson was an enthusiastic dancer at that time? Didn't you ever hear he would dance every dance until 11 p. m., on some occasions?"

"I don't know anything about that," Fireman Hamel testified.

Hear 1st Witness In Ct. Fraud Trial

WATERBURY, Ct., Jan. 31 (INS)—First witness for the prosecution, John Fitzmaurice, city clerk of Waterbury, took the stand this afternoon before Judge Ernest A. Inglis as actual presentation of evidence in the million dollar fraud trial began after two months spent in picking a jury.

Reading of the bench warrant, charging Mayor T. Frank Hayes and 21 other defendants of stealing and conspiring to steal more than a million dollars from the city of Waterbury, took all morning.

DYNAMITE BLAST KILLS 2

FORT COLLINS, Col., Jan. 31 (INS)—Two men were killed and several others hurt when a terrific dynamite blast rocked the Ideal Cement Company's plant at Boettcher, near here. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

Toy Pistol Thief Gets 6 Months

Mercy was extended to Walter H. Neal, 24, of North avenue, Weston, accused of robbing Mrs. Olivia Stone Holmes, Junior Leaguer and skating star, by Judge Wilford D. Gray, who, today, directed a plea of guilty to robbery be changed to a lesser charge.

Neal was then sentenced to serve six months in the House of Correction.

A former milkman, the defendant recently invaded Mrs. Holmes' Weyland home and, armed with a toy pistol, demanded her money. She gave him $2.85.

With her at the time was C. Mifflin Frothingham, a cousin of Governor Saltonstall, a visitor, who had a considerable sum belonging to the Community Fund, but convinced Neal he had no money.

Cadet Seeks Name Change

If nobody minds, Haralampos Demetropoulos, a senior at West PoPint, would like to have his name changed legally to Harry de Metropolis.

A petition for this change was filed in superior court today by Attorney Maurice Caro of 18 Tremont street, counsel fo rthe cadet.

It is set forth that the cadet wishes his name altered because the change "is a direct translation from the Greek, is easier to pronounce and less obligatory of being repeatedly spelled to be correctly written."

Hearing date on the petition was set as February 16.

Cadet Demetropoulos was born at Lowell on September 21, 1915, but has spent most of his life in Boston, according to the petition.

Ernst Hermann, Newton's veteran superintendent of playgrounds, is not technically a department head and must therefore retire when he reaches the age of 70, in March, City Solicitor Joseph W. Bartlett of Newton ruled today.

Hermann is dean of Boston University's Sargent school of physical education.

He is required to give only one-third of his time to his Newton playground post. His salary from the city is $3000 a year.

F.D.R. IN SECRET PLANE TALK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (INS)—Concerned over grave implications of an inquiry into U. S. cooperation with a French air mission in this country to buy war planes, President Roosevelt today conferred in secrecy with all members off the Senate military affairs committee—Republican and Democratic.

The President summoned members of the committee to the White House after a lengthy conference with the committee chairman, Senator Morris Sheppard (D.) of Texas.

It was apparent that the whole committee conferred with President Roosevelt at Sheppard's request, so that all might hear what the President told him in an earlier discussion.

Chairman Sheppard was understood to have taken to the President the transcript of testimony before the Senate committee in secret sessions of the past few days during which the activities of the French air mission and the administration in connection with the purchase of U. S.-built planes have been explored.

In addition to a discussion of the Franco-American arrangements for the purchase of planes, the President was expected to submit an outline of his program for national preparedness, embracing expansion of army and navy power and anti-aircraft weapons.

But mainly, the President planned to make plain the administration's position in "encouraging" French purchase of planes.

HITLER PEACE PLEDGE MAKES BERLIN HAPPY

BERLIN, Jan. 31 (AP)—Diplomats saw hope today for peace in Europe. Adolf Hitler assured that there would be no cause for war in his pursuit of the great Nazi objective, return of war-lost colonies.

They were not sure, however, of the full meaning of the chancellor's firm promise of aid to Italy if she were warred against in an ideological war and his declaration:

"National Socialist Germany and Fascist Italy are strong enough to safeguard peace against everyone; and to end resolutely and successfully any conflict which irresponsible elements lightly start."

Charting the course of Nazidom for 1939 in a two-hour and 17-minute speech before the Reichstag, the chancellor declared his own belief in a "long peace."

He set increasing world trade, to include Latin American countries, as a pressing need to bolster German economy while the campaign for colonies is carried on, and advised the United States not to interfere.

DEMANDS COLONIES

Devoting much of the address starting his seventh year in power to the economic need for Germany's 80,000,000 people, the chancellor hinted that the colonial issue would be handled by negotiation.

"Germany has no territorial demands against England and France apart from that for the return of our colonies," he said.

"While the solution of this question would contribute greatly to the pacification of the world, it is in no sense a problem which could cause a war."

He did not mention the Italian agitation for colonial concessions from France.

But he insisted that Italian-German friendship "can only serve the cause of peace if it is quite clearly understood that a war of rival ideologies waged against the Italy of today will, once it is launched and regardless of its motives, call Germany to the side of her friend."

Hitler blamed Jews, Bolshevists and unfriendly political and financial interests in other countries, including the United States, for war propaganda. He criticized among others Secretary Ickes of the United States.

"CAMPAIGN OF DEFAMATION"

He pledged Germany to pursue with increasing energy a place in world trade to meet the "uttermost need a nation can meet, namely, the need for its daily bread."

Emphasizing that business relations with South and Central America "concern nobody but them and ourselves" he charged that relations with the United States are "suffering from a campaign of defamation" by unfriendly interests on the "pretense that Germany threatens American independence and freedom."

"We all believe, however," the chancellor added, "that this does not reflect the will of the millions of American citizens who, despite all that is said to the contrary by a gigantic Jewish-capitalistic propaganda through the press, the radio and the films, cannot fail to realize that there is not one word of truth in all these assertions."

The Jewish question, Hitler continued, should be solved and "the sooner the better," for Europe "cannot settle down until the Jewish question is cleared up.

gee women fought among themselves and with police.

Fascist women used rolled newspapers as weapons.

The prime minister publicly welcomed the pacific passages of Hitler's speech during question hour in the House of Commons before opening of a debate on Spain and foreign policy generally.

SHARES PEACE HOPE

"I welcome the passages in Herr Hitler's speech yesterday regarding his desire for mutual confidence and co-operation between our two peoples," he said.

"I should like to take this opportunity to repeat that these sentiments are fully shared by the government and people of this country."

On the colonial question Chamberlain declared that "no negotiations are at the present time contemplated between the German and British governments."

He was replying to a question by Opposition Laborite Arthur Henderson.

"I am glad to observe that discussions on various commercial matters have recently taken place between the representatives of industry in this country and in Germany," he added.

Of his Rome visit the chancellor said the welcomes extended to him and Lord Halifax were "striking in their sincerity."

NOT FULLY AGREED

"Though we are unable to report that we (Britain and Italy) were in agreement on all points, we did achieve our purpose, since when the conversations were over each side had a clearer insight into the other's standpoint," he said.

"Signor Mussolini first and foremost made it clear that the policy of Italy was one of peace and that he would use his influence in favor of it if, at any time, the necessity arose.

"Italy desired peace from every point of view and not least for the general stability of Europe.

"Our hosts also made it clear that the Rome-Berlin axis was an essential point of Italian foreign policy.

"This did not imply that it was impossible for Italy to have the most friendly relations with Great Britain and with other powers when circumstances were favorable.

"We on our part made it equally plain that close co-operation between Great Britain and France was the basis of British policy.

"We made no concealment of our regret that Italy's relations with France should recently have deteriorated."

Map New Fight On Dictator Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (INS)—The administration's fight for the right to reorganize the executive branch of the government—a fight that ended in defeat at the last session of Congress—will be reopened in the House with presentation of a general measure giving President Roosevelt wide powers.

Strategy of the reorganization forces in the House was outlined today before the House rules committee by Rep. John J. Cochran (D.) of Missouri, in asking that a special reorganization committee, of which he was chairman, be revived. The rules committee gave the resolution preferred status.

Il Duce Due to Warn World He Wants Land

ROME, Jan. 31 (INS)—Quickly following up Chancellor Hitler's Reichstag speech, Premier Mussolini was expected today to renew before the world a proclamation of Italy's aspirations.

Fortified by Hitler's promise of aid if Italy is attacked, Il Duce probably will make an address tomorrow in connection with celebrations marking the anniversary of creation of the Fascist militia.

Although there was no official confirmation of the anticipated address, a reliable source expressed the opinion Mussolini would warn the world of Italy's preparedness and the "justice of her objectives."

Speculation immediately arose among diplomatic quarters and observers in Rome as to how far Il Duce will go, if he makes the speech, in pressing Italian claims for such French colonial territories as Tunisia, Corsica, Djibouti and other Mediterranean and African areas.

Premier Daladier has repeatedly emphasized France will refuse to cede an inch of territory to Italy or any other country.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (INS)—The American government today maintained official silence on Hitler's Reichstag speech, but officials privately found in his words scant hope of a lessening of Nazi expansion efforts through threat of force.

Despite the comparatively moderate tone adopted by Hitler, official quarters saw no concrete evidence to warrant a healing of the breach which in recent months has led to a virtual rupture of German-American diplomatic relations.

PARIS, Jan. 31 (INS)—Gratification that Chancellor Hitler refrained in his Reichstag speech from adding new "complications" to the territorial dispute between Paris and Rome today appeared to be the chief French reaction to his discourse.

MOSCOW, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Soviet Russian press today ignored Hitler's Reichstag address but one Moscow newspaper significantly republished a London warning that Russia and Germany, despite ideological differences, might reach an understanding.

READING IN BED

Electric lighting has made such advances that reading in bed is no longer frowned on by high scientific authority. The great question is, what to read?

It all depends. If you look upon the bedroom as a place for serious studies, you have an endless variety to choose from. If you read in bed as a means of calming the nerves, with a view to slumber, choose something which will be interesting but not too exciting. Few would recommend Dracula and yet Bram Stoker wrote it sitting up in bed at night. Hall Caine's works are not essentially soporific, yet he wrote the greater part of them in bed. (When did he and Stoker sleep, if at all?)

Do not choose something dull and tedious in the expectation that it will put you to sleep. Dullness and tedium are all right if you sit in a church pew, but in bed they are irritating. An ideal volume would be one of Trollope's novels. The placid style is soothing, and while the interest is steadily maintained, it does not rise to the level of stimulation. The Trollope revival represents popular reaction from the highly spiced fare of the present generation.

Histories not too brilliant are good. Macaulay is in the scintillating category, but a book like McCarthy's "History of Our Own Times" is to be recommended. As it imposes no strain on the attention and is quite readable without being too absorbing. Or try Cardinal O'Connell's "Recollections of Seventy Years" or "The Four Just Men" of Edgar Wallace or "Lord Peter Views the Body" by Dorothy Sayers. Of course, a good detective story is worth reading at least once a year.

...from the editorial page of the Boston Herald, January 9, 1939

The choice of what you read in bed is strictly up to you; But when it comes to proper light we have suggestions too!

You'll live longer if you don't take your worries to bed with you. Park them out in the doghouse and climb blissfully into bed with a fat pillow and a good book. But, for your eyes' sake, be sure you have adequate light! Too little light or harmful glare can ruin that best seller and your only pair of eyes. Come in today and select one of our Better Light Better Sight Lamps. Hundreds for your selection.

(A) THE DORIC. A classic pin-up wall lamp that will blend with most any color or decorative scheme. Comes in white or bronze finish. Complete with Bulb $1.35

A ONE-SIDED GAME

FOREIGN INDUSTRY smiles in the artist's picture. But there is no such satisfaction on the face of handicapped New England industry.

Representatives and Senators from our six States should study this picture of ruinous competition. And, studying it, they should PROFIT BY IT.

At least, it ought to inspire them to stand up in Congress and denounce the reports of the Administration's misnamed "reciprocal trade treaties" which are submerging and destroying New England under a flood of cheap foreign goods that have undersold them in the present standard countries of Europe and Asia.

We can expect no help from those who represent this section in Washington. [illegible] friends of the thousands of men and women [illegible] jobs.

Now is the time for Republican and Democratic Senator to give a PRACTICAL demonstration of true friendship.

Now is the time to abandon empty, meaningless words and to substitute PATRIOTIC ACTION.

Our elected representatives MUST CHOOSE between the American farmers and factory workers and New England jobs.

It is impossible honestly for any man to favor both.

NEW ENGLAND HOMES set the style trend for the nation. Everywhere, from Florida to Oregon, house owners are [illegible] colonial wallpapers and replacing them with [illegible] Cape Cod, Maine and New Hampshire [illegible].

The [illegible] Antiquarians by the Society of Master Paperhangers [illegible] recently convened in Boston.

Many [illegible] intended to please us as proud New Englanders. But it is a convincing form of flattery.

More [illegible] is the fact that ten million walls [illegible] ADVERTISEMENTS for our unrivaled [illegible] countrysides and great woodlands.

And because of this curiosity, thousands who see these [illegible] will be induced to visit us.

That spells prosperity.

DIVORCE COURTS know neither depressions nor recessions. In fact, the business of untying the matrimonial knot seems to be a much too stable enterprise in Massachusetts.

Suffolk County may be considered a typical example. There, 1441 [illegible] were granted last year, 71 per cent of them by women.

Something is wrong. We profess to be shocked by Reno's free and easy method of ending unhappy marriage.

BUT WE CANNOT DENY THE FACT THAT OUR OWN RECORD LEAVES MUCH TO BE DESIRED.

The [illegible] question confronts everybody, none more than legislators at Beacon Hill.

For [illegible] important [illegible] most problems on which they spend [illegible] time [illegible] divorce should receive careful study during the current session.

BOSTON LOOKS AHEAD to the week of August 27. That is the time selected for the big national encampment here of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The veterans will bring thousands of visitors to us from every State and every municipality in the Union.

That, of course, means prosperity for our hotels, restaurants and stores.

Yet [illegible] prosperity always is, one hardly thinks of it in contemplating the veterans' convention.

Rather do we think of a joyous reunion, of real fellowship, of TRUE AMERICANISM, unbounded by race, creed or political affiliation.

STYLISTS and beauty ... may rave and rave about the lithe, slender hipline and the long-legged look, but those clever people who design tailored suits do something about it.

[illegible] the new [illegible] the [illegible] ... [illegible] ... [illegible] and sewn up suits that rest so smoothly ... Sewing is too good for us unless figured linens and people so trim we have chic and should need waistlines and smooth plates of cheese and lap. We also have the pick of that's favorite fabrics. For instance one of the suits we concentrate on is one of the snappiest, newest patterned on the market a subtle, shaded herringbone pattern that was nigh impossible to resist. It comes in green, brown, navy and black sizes 14, 16 for ONLY $12.

The other sensibly suit is of peppery tweed, tape trimmed with interesting patch pockets, patch tucks to perfect the waist of fit and comes in two hues, green of brown, green or gray and this my fine feminine friends is [illegible] $10. At this price there is also a double-jerkin striped tweed suit that is truly a knock-out.

FOR SHOPPING information on these fashion finds in suits ($10 and $12) phone Annice Brink, Fashion Editor, LIBerty 4000, week-days until five-thirty or write her at the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

2. Do [illegible] guests in a home) wear their hats?

When one is a guest of either a friend of a woman at a [illegible] a restaurant and the waiter some friend of serving should tip on the waiter directly or make some wants known to the host or hostess?

ADELAIDE

1 After lunch in some one's home a guest or friend stays half an hour or an hour. On Sunday or holidays a little later, to depart since these occasions are usually more leisurely.

2 Yes.

3 We should make our wants known to the host or hostess . . . not directly to the waiter.

You Can be Beautiful

Hold on to Fleet Youth

By ARLINE GOULD

WE DON'T care what it is that's making your skin wilt—it may be the blasting of icy winds that's doing it, or the dizzy pace of your nights and days, or the imminence of your fortieth birthday—a "special treatment cream" is the one to reverse the calendar for you.

Strange enough, for a cream that reconditionss and nourishes drying skins to a dewy soft texture, you can neither see the intensely rich oils in it, nor feel them on your face!

Maybe that's because it's hand made and hand whipped to a clotted-cream consistency. When you rub it on your face the cream has a "dry" feeling that we've never experienced before. It's hard to explain, but there is a lack of "wetness." For perhaps five minutes you look a little as though you're going to have a cast of your face made!

Then the miraculous happens. Give it fifteen minutes, perhaps. And don't bother to sit staring at yourself in the mirror. Walk around, or fix your nails. Then examine your face and you'll find that practically every trace of the cream has disappeared.

This is proof that—at long last—your face has found what it needs and wants! Until this cream has conquered undernourishment and misuse, it will continue to disappear. When the day comes that some of the oils stay on the surface, then you can let up on the every night treatment.

We're told that all the thieves of beauty — windburn, chapping, sunburn and natural hypersensitiveness were considered in the formulation of this spectacular cream. It is said to actually contain the same elements that compose the third layer of your skin, the one deep beneath the surface, which is the source and spring of all complexion beauty. This cream helps replenish it.

When you use this cream tap it on, never rub it on. Then do a special "nibbling in" touch with the tips of your fingers) with special emphasis around the eyes and on the throat. That's where dryness gets in its first disastrous effects, and where you should more than double your pampering if you're to hold hard to the hand of fleet youth.

To learn about this remarkable "special treatment cream" phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, week days until five-thirty or write her at the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self addressed envelope.

A BROOKLINE GIRL who nursed Jockey Johnny "Red" Pollard, Seabiscuit's erstwhile rider, when the lad was confined at Winthrop Community Hospital, will become his bride at an Easter wedding in California . . . She is Miss Agnes Conlon, and is described as "ravishingly beautiful" . . . If she's no more than pretty, the tip should interest city editors for the "art" and human interest possibilities . . .

GEORGE HOLLAND

A gentleman named Nelson, a former representative, in the Saltonstall buffer for job-seekers at the State House, this column is told on excellent authority . . . He has no official title as yet, but the office number is State House, 36½

Boyhood chums of the Governor, by the way, pronounce the name as if it were spelled "Saultonstall" neglecting the first "l" . . .

Eddie Lewis, former night club proprietor in Boston and the last place of Ruby Foo in the Boston area, New York The Lion, has opened a Chinese eatery in Hollywood and it's called Eddie Lewis Lion.

Show Stuff:

Lee Bruce, who sang in the Winchell-Bernie film, "Love and Hisses," has been booked to sing at the Lyric in Bridgeport, Monday . . . Dee Wells and Gene White, last seen here several years ago, Dee Gene is producing Dixie . . .

Cancellation by George M. Cohan of his Boston return engagement was in line with his decision last summer to tour only 20 weeks in his great success "I'd Rather Be Right."

The Yankee Doodle Kid has a play of his own making on the fire, but has not decided whether he'll play in it himself . . . Although George and his producer (and former partner), Sam H. Harris, are the best of friends, there was bad feeling between the star and the songwriters, Rodgers and Hart, from the start . . .

George M. reportedly was incensed when he learned that the boys were getting a percentage of the grand. Al Shean had rather quiet [illegible] . . . When he broke up [illegible] Hart [illegible] . . . Before the opening was a bad [illegible]

Cohan bowed to be released from a tour the past Fall, but when no fitting substitute was available, George M. proceeded to troupe the countryside rather than cause the layoff of a company of principals and choristers . . .

Once Over Lightly:

Something big ought to result in the current Southern exposure of Ted Woods and the Wellwood Golf Club, what, me fearing Of today in Miami . . . Dr. Wellwood's son, James F. Mahony of Newton, the editor . . . and pals Jack Dreyer, pro at Wellwood, Jack Jones, manager of the club, and Gene Sarazen, the Squire of Sandy Land . . .

They have played Jacksonville and Daytona courses and will cart their woods and irons as far south as Mexico City before they call the excursion a matter of record . . .

In Dixie, on your Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Wadsworth Sibley in Miami Beach, the [illegible] Portuguese [illegible] by hours . . . Elliot is the manufacturer of [illegible] clothing named after him . . . No [illegible] are allowed to invite wilted citizens to produce the full name . . . The [illegible] these summer days . . .

That "Slums of Paris" act at the Latin Quarter becomes all the more hair-raising when the customers know that Billy Branch really throws heavy knives at one of his partners . . . It's shivery enough for those who think the dagger-hurling is a gadget . . .

The show is good throughout, and if there's a better performer on the tushtrope than handsome Don Francisco, this column fails to recall the name . . . Francisco is the image of Charlie MacArthur, Helen Hayes' playwrighting husband, when Charles was younger and had more hair . . .

Austen Lake:

Harvard and Tech Ready For Winter Rowing Grind

THE TIME OF WINTER IS HERE when several score of Harvard and Technology oarsmen of exceeding he-man type report for indoor-training and squat in stationary boats in the middle of frozen-over pools and swish and churn the waters without budging so much as a foot. Next Monday they will begin the strenuous, daily rehearsals which will cram six months of energy into a few minutes of concentrated action in next Spring's regattas.

AUSTEN LAKE

Thus opens one of the queerest chapters of college sport. For, after attending the many water carnivals at New London and Poughkeepsie, I must admit that I have never become imbued with charm of 8-oared rowing, which embraces so much expensive real estate and consumes so many man-hours and so much money.

There has been a good deal of mystery and flubdub written about the skill required to give just the right directional twist to the handle and blade, and about the fine nerves coordination needed to keep the spine stoped, the wrists angled and the knees thrusting after the contest has ceased being fun and the muscles of each athlete are jumbled, the muscles cramped and the brain reeling.

But when Spring comes again and the ice goes out of the Charles the Harvard and Technology nastes will float their paper-shell craft on aimless cruises up and down the river, a heaving and a hauling in perfect rhythm to the bawls of undersized bantams who sit aft with the tiller ropes and exhort the huskies to give

Woe to the Crab-Catcher

STILL AND ALL, THERE MUST BE some fascination to 8-oared rowing. Or, otherwise lean and limber athletes of a cultured-coal heaver type with arteries of the purest cobalt-blue blood would not spend two hours a day for six months a year hauling and squirming with their popping eyes riveted on the rear of each other's neck and sometimes finishing their contests with convulsed stomachs, nervous chin-prickles and noises like cow-bells in the brain.

And if one of them catches a crab, which is a kind of marine divot, it is pretty disastrous to his social standing. He will be remembered evermore as the fumble-fisted chump who gummed the big race and lacked the decency to drown himself. That fellow!

I once asked Gerald Cassidy, the old Harvard stroke oar, what he thought about during the races and he said, "O, at the quarter I am apt to think about a chocolate-fudge sundae with a frosting of marshmallow. At the half I may dream about a double, box-spring bed with cool, freshly laundered sheets. But in the last half I just think, 'Uh-huh, uh huh,' in time with the oarlocks and watch the black spots edged with crimson and big as pennies dance before my eyes."

WHENEVER I THINK ABOUT ROWING, which I hasten to add is not often, I like to remember the day that Dartmouth resumed the sport a few years [illegible] waters of Occum Pond. The boys had a few patched shells and a boathouse converted from a sway-backed ice house, and they [illegible] of how to handle their matchwood [illegible] fetched such a gosh-almighty [illegible] that they nigh yanked the entrails out of the boat, [illegible] and [illegible] let loose of their poles and [illegible]

And when [illegible] Doc Hetzel, the athletic director, was plainly relieved to count nine men in each tub including the cox.

That was fun! Archie [illegible] Dartmouth has bedded down their shells on the sawdust floor of the old ice house, they looked perspired and happy. Fun! Though to be sure, as rowing ethics go, a vulgar, declasse kind of fun. Because in the proper college rowing circles you don't just go out and brazenly start to row. You spend the winter indoors in a glass conservatory with live water flowing on either side and pulling to the beat of a radio orchestra with mirrors on the walls to throw back your image. You do, that is if you are in the upper social rowing brackets like Harvard and Technology.

BRUIN FANS are expecting big doings at the Garden tonight when the Bruins and New York Americans meet on local ice. A feud has been raging between Flash Hollett, in circle, of the locals and Nels Stewart, former Bruins wing, which broke out in New York last week, with both players swapping punches and getting major penalties. Fans are in a quandary as to what reaction the Gotham battle will have when this pair take the ice tonight.

MacFayden Picks B's To Finish Second

Veteran Lauds New Rookies

BRADENTON, Fla., Jan. 31 (AP)—Danny MacFayden, a mainstay of the Boston Bees' veteran hurling staff, packed into two words today his advice to rookie pitchers:

"Practice control."

"The average pitcher coming up needs control above all else," explained Danny, who speaks with the wisdom acquired through 13 years of play in the American and National leagues.

But MacFayden, here for a month of golf and swimming before the Boston training camp opens, was anxious to talk about the Bees.

"If we get the same kind of fine pitching we've had the last two years, along with the batting strength Al Simmons, Buddy Hassett and Al Todd, all newcomers, should give our club, the Bees are going to be right up there battling for second place," he declared.

The slender player said he looked for Jim Turner, Lou Fette and Milburn Shoffner—the other "old men" of the mound corps—to perform more successfully than they did in 1938.

MacFayden said he believed the club had two promising players in Tom Early and Arthur Doll, who went to the Bees from Hartford near the end of last season.

MacFayden plans a number of early workouts with Bobby Doak, son of Bill Doak, the one-time spitball pitching ace of the St. Louis Cardinals and the Dodgers.

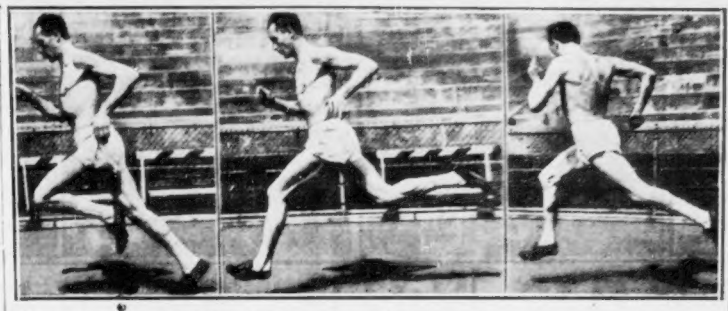
The 18-year-old Doak, former Florida amateur golf champion, has turned professional but MacFayden has fanned his interest in baseball. Together they plan to learn whether Bobby inherited any of his father's hurling skill.

Nats Buy Giant

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Washington Senators announced today they have a rookie pitcher who can take the measure of any man in the major leagues—he's 6 feet 7 inches in his bare feet.

"When he puts on socks and baseball shoes," explained club Secretary Eddie Eynon, "and stands on the raised pitcher's mound, he's something to behold."

The tall pitcher is Robert Garner of Rockmart, Ga. Last year was his first in organized baseball. Pitching for Salisbury, Md., he won 16 games and lost seven.



JOSEF MOSTERT of Belgium, holder of the world's three-quarter mile record at 3 minutes 2-5 second, set in Paris, flashes his tremendous stride for the cameraman in a recent workout. The Belgium star is entered in the B. A. A. games and ought to furnish Cunningham with his sternest competition of the indoor racing season.

Kerr Missed Bill Osmanski

HAMILTON, N. Y., Jan. 31 (AP)—Marshall Goldberg, Pittsburgh's All-American, is the fastest back on the get-away he has ever coached, Andy Kerr, of Colgate, said as he returned from the West Coast, where he was co-tuter of the All-East team that lost to Westerners.

Bill Osmanski

"Goldberg may have not been fastest runner," Kerr explained, "but at the end of the first two steps he was moving faster than anybody I have coached."

Kerr picked Billy Patterson of Baylor as the outstanding Western player and named Heikkenen of Michigan the outstanding Eastern lineman. Andy said that Patterson, a great passer, was the difference between the two teams but he admitted that the loss of Bill Osmanski of Holy Cross, out with injuries, was a blow to the Eastern forces.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP)—Georgetown's basketball team, making its third appearance of the season in the metropolitan area, took a 43-34 trimming from Fordham.

STELLAR POLE VAULT FIELD IN B. A. A. GAMES

By MURRAY KRAMER

There is one field event which is always a certain crowd pleaser to any track audience and that is the pole vault.

This specialty never fails to bring thrills once that bar hits 14 feet, and is one the big sellers at the annual B. A. A. games which are being held for the 50th year at the Boston Garden a week from Saturday night.

Realizing the tremendous interest in the "monkey climbers," the committee is now hard at work rounding up an outstanding field with the hopes of breaking the indoor record made by George Varoff of 14 feet 4⅛ inches at the Boston Garden two years ago.

Two entries have already been received and two more from coast champions are expected any day.

Those in the fold are Howard Jensen of Temple and Sumner Gill, former Stanford king who is now at Harvard Graduate School.

MEADOWS INVITED

And, the incoming mail will shortly bring acceptances from Earl Meadows, last year's winner and 1936 Olympic champion who is co-holder of the world's outdoor record, and Connie Warmerdam of California, present National A. A. U. outdoor titleholder.

Gill, who was consistent at 13 feet 6 inches while at Stanford, has been clearing 14 feet at the Harvard cage and looms as a definite threat to win the event.

Jensen is Middle Atlantic A. A. U. champion and can also hit 14 feet.

Ken Clapp, pride of Brown who captured the dash in the Prout games, is going to have plenty of trouble at the B. A. A. affair. "Blazing Ben" Johnson, old Columbia star who holds about every dash record has been entered.

Harold Cagle, Oklahoma Baptist star who was voted the outstanding athlete in the Prout games, comes back for the Hollis 600.

There will be a real foreign touch in the person of Josef Mostert of Belgium in the Hunter Mile. The invader holds the world's record for three-quarters of a mile with a 3:04 performance. In the European championships last summer, he ran a close second to the great Sydney Wooderson of England in the 1500 meters.

Fox-Bettina Meet For Title Friday

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (INS)—Their heavy training concluded, Mello Bettina, of Beacon, N. Y., and Tiger Jack Fox, of Spokane, Wash., report at the boxing commission offices today for a final checkup and the signing of new papers for their light heavyweight championship match at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Bettina was given a rousing send-off for New York by his neighbors after he finished his workout at Beacon yesterday. Mayor Robert Pugsley headed the parade which took him to the train.

ROSS ALL SET

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31 (AP)—The Athletics announced receipt of a signed contract from Lee "Buck" Ross, right-handed pitcher from Norwood, N. C.

Shakeup Ahead for Olympics

The championship of the Provincial League may be settled here next week-end when the Valleyfield Braves invade the Garden on Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon, February 4 and 5.

The Braves will come to the Hub solidly entrenched in second place and but a few games out of the top spot in the league. If the Harringtonmen should upset them even once their hopes to finish in the attic should receive a mortal wound, and two defeats would be a death blow to the struggling Braves.

The local team emerged from their recent Cornwall games in fine physical condition, Bill Splaine and Art Smith, who were unable to compete in the Sunday game, will be in shape for the coming series.

REST COSTELLO

Coach Hago Harrington was not pleased with the work of his forwards and this week will make some changes. The Olympic coach hinted that he was going to bring Cliff Thompson, the Juniors' high-scoring ace, up for a shot at the left wing berth. This will mean that Jack Costello is in for a rest. Harrington also indicated that he would draft another of the Juniors for Senior duty, but did not indicate who the lucky youngster would be.

The invading Braves are reported to be in the midst of a prolonged winning streak. Since the former Sherbrooke coach, Archie Wilcox, took over the Valleyfield six, the Braves have lost but two tilts. On paper this Valleyfield team is the strongest outfit in the league.

EXPECT ALLEN BACK

Coach Harrington expects husky Russ Allen back in the fold this week-end. Allen has been suffering from a severe case of grippe for over a month now, but should be in shape by next Saturday. The return of Allen leaves Harrington with six defense men on his hands; a situation that may result in one of the big fellows working on a wing. Burly Junie Stubbs has spent most of his hockey career as a wing and may again be tried at that spot.

Eleanor Holm Will Star in N. Y. Fair

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (INS)—The New York World's Fair spectacles will include a million-dollar water show headliner by Eleanor Holm, onetime Olympic swimming star, under a contract announced today between Billy Rose, creative impresario, and Fair President Grover Whalen.

Miss Holm will lead a dancing ballet of 200 girls and a water ballet of 100 to music from two orchestras.

Pitt-A.A.U. Trouble Nears End

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 31 (INS)—The University of Pittsburgh's squabble with the local chapter of the A. A. U., which for a while seemed as though it might end with members of the Panther thinclads being unable to enter "foreign" competition, today seemed to lean a bit in favor of the Steeltown institution.

Neither side had any definite statements to make on the situation today, but there was no overlooking the fact that John Youle Woodruff, lanky Negro star at Pitt, and other members of the track squad still were training, confident that the team would be allowed to compete in the Millrose, the Penn A. C., the Boston A. B. and the N. Y. A. meets scheduled for February.

James "Whitey" Hagan, director of athletics at Pitt, and Coach Olson both believe the Panther trackmen will be in all the big indoor games. Hagan said he had applied for traveling cards in accordance with the A. A. U.'s ruling.

Local officials of the A. A. U. have threatened withdrawal of the traveling cards on grounds that Coach Olson previously had neglected to notify the A. A. U. a sufficient time in advance.

SOX, TIGERS IN FLAG FIGHT, SAYS HIGGINS

DETROIT, Jan. 31 (AP)—Michael Frank (Pinky) Higgins, the new Detroit Tiger third baseman, looked over his future place of business today and decided he was going to like it here, especially after the snow melts.

Higgins arrived Monday from his home in Dallas along with the biggest Detroit snow storm in five years. "This is more snow than I've ever seen before," he said. "You can have it," he added.

What Pinky likes about Detroit is the left field wall out at Briggs Stadium. It's close enough to fatten a right-handed hitter's batting average, "just about the best layout in the league," he said.

Last summer Higgins completed a string of 12 consecutive hits in Briggs Stadium to break a major league record.

Higgins signed his Detroit contract immediately. He was obtained from the Boston Red Sox in exchange for Pitchers Elden Auker and Jake Wade and Outfielder Chet Morgan. Pitcher Archie McKain also came from Boston in the deal.

The 1939 major league race should be between Detroit, Boston, Cleveland and New York, he said. "Of course you would have to concede the Yankees the edge unless something happens to them," he declared. "What the other clubs will do is hard to say. I think it will be a dog fight among the Tigers, Indians and Red Sox.

"Part of the fun of being a ball player lies in not having to predict the outcome of a pennant race," Higgins remarked. "Picking winning ball clubs is a tough job."

U. S. Bobsledders 5th in Swiss Meet

CORTINA D'AMPAZZO, Italy, Jan. 31 (AP)—Switzerland won the international four-man bobsled championship today. The United States team finished fifth.

Britain had the best time in the final race, one minute 20.75 seconds, with the U. S. fifth in 1:22.85.

Swan New Grid Coach at Temple

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31 (AP)—Fred Swan, for the past six years an assistant, was appointed head football coach at Temple University today, to succeed Glenn S. "Pop" Warner, who announced his resignation at his home in Palo Alto, Cal., Sunday night.

The University football committee gave Swan, former Stanford star, a three-year contract. The salary was not disclosed, but a university spokesman said it probably would be $7500 a year.

Swan's selection to replace the 68-year-old Warner occasioned little surprise. The famous gridiron strategist himself had recommended Swan, who was line coach at Temple during "Pop's" regime.

The new coach, only 35, captained the 1926 Stanford team. He served as line coach at Colgate and Wisconsin before coming to Temple.

Mat Title Goal Set By Sonny

Another huge fortune, possibly bigger than the one he amassed as world's champion, is ahead of Dynamite Gus Sonnenberg if he can pin Ernie Dusek, head riot provoker of the Omaha wrestling clan Thursday night in the main event of Promoter Paul Bowser's all star tournament at the Boston Garden.

Ernie Dusek

A group of western promoters are willing to lay a large guarantee on the line to get Gus to forsake the east and swing through the western circuit. It seems that the papers out beyond the Mississippi have been filled with the doings of Sonny's sensational comeback and as a result he would be the biggest card that section of the country has seen for years.

ON CASEY'S TRAIL

But, if Gus listens to the proposition, it is not likely that he will take any immediate action, because he still is after the world's title and he wants to win it from Steve Casey right here in a Boston ring.

"I was kind of blinded by the guarantee these fellows offered me. But I'll be worth more money as world's champion, so I'm going to get the title first before I do anything about any more tours," said Gus, after he had completed another strenuous workout.

The dynamiter is in superb condition and is working out every day with a corps of partners. Dusek, meanwhile, is getting himself in shape in a New York gymnasium.

RUDY ON CARD

What looks like one of the wildest bouts of the year will take place when Rudy Dusek and Rebel Bob Russell clash in the semifinal, while preliminaries will include Harry Jacobs vs. Everett Ribbons; Angelo Cistoldi vs. Tom Casey, younger brother of the champion; Frank Brown vs. Ed White and Lord Albert Mills of England vs. Al Jennings of Texas.

A percentage of the gross receipts will be given to President Roosevelt's infantile paralysis fund.

Rankin Signs With Indians

DETROIT, Jan. 31 (AP)—Glenn Rankin, star college pitcher, has decided to ditch his class books for the time being, and join the Cleveland Indians of the American League.

The 19-year-old Michigan State righthander has signed a contract and will go south with them for spring training.

Young Rankin, who stands six feet two and weighs 160 pounds, won five games and lost three for State last year and last summer helped Detroit win the national sandlot title at Pittsburgh. He is a junior at Michigan State.

Cubs N. L. Choice Chirps Lazzeri

MILLBRAE, Cal., Jan. 31 (INS)—Tony Lazzeri, veteran big league infielder, who has helped the Cubs and the Yanks come and go, strolled in from the ninth hole on his favorite golf course today and talked about his new love, the Brooklyn Dodgers.

"We're going to give a lot of trouble to some of those top clubs this year," he said.

Lazzeri recently signed with the Dodgers as coach and infielder, with the promise he'll do more playing than he was able to get in with the Cubs last year.

Excitedly, Lazzeri said:

"Why, we've got all kinds of reserves and plenty of promising youngsters. Watch our stuff!"

Without qualification, "Poosh-Em-Up" Tony believes his Dodgers are going to finish in the first division.

"Why not?" he asked. "You're really going to be surprised. We've got the goods this year, and we're going to make some of the big boys look and listen."

TONY TO PLAY

On his personal account, Tony said he expects to bat "300 or better" during the season. He's going to leave for training about the middle of February, and until then he's having plenty of rest and plenty of fun on the golf course.

Asked to size up the National League picture, Tony shot back:

"It looks like the Giants, the Cubs and Pittsburgh to me. Nearly a tossup, but of those three I'd pick the Cubs because they look like they'll be a little better balanced than any other team."

Apparently he packs no resentment for the team that gave him little more play than pinch-hitting over last season.

He likes big Johnny Mize of the St. Louis Cards as the possible top man in the big league this year.

"He's a great all-around player, and you can't hold him down," Tony said.

Suspend Two at Hialeah

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 31 (INS)—Indefinite suspension of Harold Williams, a trainer, and Frank Winters, a groom, was announced today by the Florida Racing Commission in connection with the alleged doping of the thoroughbred, Bosonia, four-year-old filly owned by C. K. Finch, of New York, at Hialeah Park Jan. 16.

The action was taken by the commission after a hearing on the suspension of the two men on Jan. 24, after caffeine was detected in a saliva test.

The commissioners' order stated that Williams and Winters "and all horses owned, trained or in their charge, he ruled off indefinitely, and that the trainer and groom be denied the privileges of all tracks in Florida."

At the hearing, both men denied any knowledge of the offense. Records of the commission showed, however, that Winters had signed a slip making him responsible for the horse's condition until after she went to the post. An examination found the filly normal less than two hours before the race.

Bosonia won the race, paying $7.60, $4.60 and $4.30.

Suffolk Downs to Get 54-56 Days | Saltonstall Wins In Racing War

By JACK CONWAY

NOW THAT Attorney General Paul A. Dever has ruled that the new race track at Westport has no license to operate it is expected that Suffolk Downs will make a request for a change in its racing dates . . . The East Boston track was originally granted 42 days of racing, while Westport received 35 racing days . . . I look for Suffolk Downs to receive 54 to 56 days of racing . . . Last year Suffolk Downs was granted 57 days of racing.

Mr. Boston

As the largest racing plant in New England and located in the areas of the biggest population, Suffolk Downs is entitled to the utmost consideration from the Racing Commission . . . The State is a partner in racing in view of the fact it receives 3½ per cent of the mutual take plus a 50-50 split in the breakage . . . It is to the financial advantage of the State to give Suffolk Downs the racing dates it rates.

The dates to Suffolk Downs and Westport were awarded before the recent two resignations by members of the Racing Commission . . . The dates were granted at a time when Governor Saltonstall asked the Racing Commission to hold up action until such time as he took office . . . Governor Saltonstall took a firm hand in the racing tangle, and has been victorious in every move he has made.

Al McCoy Aided by Training in Maine

AL McCOY acted wisely when he decided to train in his native State of Maine for his 10-round bout with Buddy Knox that will feature a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden on February 10 . . . McCoy has been living in a camp in the wilds of the Maine woods, and is in better physical condition than he has been in for several years . . . Al should be tireless in his meeting with Knox, and is confident he will come through with a smashing victory.

The recent McCoy-Knox bout was one of the best heavyweight battles ever staged in this city . . . McCoy almost knocked Knox out in the third round . . . Knox later rallied, and won a questionable decision . . . Tom Walsh told me in Detroit last week that he looks for McCoy to win over Knox . . . Walsh is anxious to sign Al for a series of matches at the Olympia in Detroit.

Matchmaker "Rip" Valenti of the Goodwin Club is ill with a cold, but is carrying on his boxing business over the telephone . . . Valenti is anxious to sign the sensational Henry Chmielewski, Polish middleweight, for a bout on the McCoy-Knox card . . . Chmielewski has won nine straight bouts since he came to this country . . . In his bout with Unknown Morgan at the Garden last week, Chmielewski proved he can take a punch as well as give one . . . Morgan scored with a terrific belt to the jaw in the opening round . . . Chmielewski came back with a heavy barrage to head and body and went on to win.

Sonnenberg's Mat Comeback Is Popular

THE GUS SONNENBERG come-back campaign is popular in New York, Detroit and through the Middle West . . . It was the old Dynamiter who gave the wrestling game its big lift, and promoters and fans are pleased to see the former Dartmouth star tipping over the opposition again . . . There isn't a wrestler as fast as Sonnenberg in coming up off the mat . . . Now that Gus is in splendid physical condition once more he won't tire . . . He should be able to maintain his maddening pace until he wrecks the opposition.

Gus has been high up on the water wagon for more than a year . . . You cannot get Sonnenberg to drink anything stronger than soda water . . . What a story it will be if Sonnenberg goes on to regain his lost championship! . . . Sonnenberg rates with Babe Ruth, Jack Dempsey, Bill Tilden, Walter Hagen, Helen Wills and other great champions in the matter of public appeal.

Sonnenberg will try to continue his winning drive when he collides with Ernie Dusek in a finish bout at the Garden on Thursday night . . . Ernie is the best wrestler among the Duseks, and he will give the famous Dynamiter a severe test . . . The capacity crowd at the George-Talun bout in Buffalo convinced Paul Bowser that wrestling is going to have a big season if the public is offered the right kind of matches . . . A crowd of 10,000 saw George win over Talun, while 6000 more persons were unable to gain admittance to the Buffalo Auditorium where the match was held.

Lou Ambers to Get Armstrong Bout

LOU AMBERS, who sparkled so brilliantly as he won from Paul Junior of Maine at the Garden, will get another crack at Henry Armstrong . . . Ambers' speed, and sharp punching give him a chance of victory against Armstrong . . . Frank Leahy is certain to get a fine reception when he appears at the Boston College football dinner at the University Club tomorrow night . . . Leahy has youth, a fine football background and a first class knowledge of the gridiron game . . . He should give Boston College a winner.

Martin All Set—Breadon

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 31 (AP)—Pepper Martin will be in the 1939 St. Louis Cardinal lineup if President Sam Breadon has his way.

Pepper Martin

The wild horse of the Osage, a veteran of nine straight years as a Cardinal regular, will go into a huddle with vice president Branch Rickey of the Cards today to talk about pay checks.

"We've no idea of trading him or anything else," Breadon declared when asked why the Cards had asked waivers on the outfielder, "he's got lots of good baseball left in him."

"We ask waivers on everybody," Breadon added, and declared the Cards front office had no intention of sending Pepper to a minor league farm.

Pepper was reported more worried about the future of his "Merry Mudcats" hillbilly orchestra than about his own baseball future.

Rumors that Bill McGee, his fiddler, Lon Warneke, his "gittar-ist," and Bob Weiland, his "blow-jug" player, were "holding out" on him had the Pepper stumped.

The rest of the rumor—that with Curt Davis they might form a pitchers' quartet—brought further acrid comment.

Double Feature At Worcester

WORCESTER, Jan. 31—Salvatore Bartolo of East Boston steps into one of his toughest fights at Mechanics Hall, Worcester, Friday night, when he meets Dave Barry of Chicago in the 10-round main bout of the Arena Social Club show.

In the second 10-round feature Sal Canata, Holyoke, battles Johnny Rossi, Worcester, and this looms as another free-hitting contest.

In the semifinal Billy Campanelli, All-America star, meets Tony Vento, Cambridge, another ex-amateur ace, in a six-rounder.

Amateur

Tilt Postponed

Inability of the out-of-town boxers to reach Boston due to the blizzard for the finals of the Diamond Belt amateur tourney scheduled for the Boston Arena last night caused the officials of the club to postpone the tournament to Monday, Feb. 13.

The club will stage its usual inter-city tournament next Monday night at the Boston Arena.

Sport-O-Grimes

Manager "Red" Dutton of the New York Americans will be at the Jordan Marsh Co. this afternoon autographing his book on hockey . . . In the event that he is queried on the details of Sunday night's Bruins-Americans game, Manager Dutton will probably throw away his fountain pen and the autographs will be off . . . You can't tell Ted Dutton that Art Ross, manager of the Bruins and Bernie Ross, the goal judge, who allowed Eddie Shore's tally, are not first cousins . . . Bill McKechnie, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, will become a 33d degree Mason here next month . . . The Boston Olympics will wind up their Provincial League season this week end with a two game series against the Valleyfield Braves . . . The "Pics" are definitely out of the running for the Provincial League playoffs but Coach Archie Wilcox has predicted that the Braves will oust Cornwall from first place . . . Wilcox has done a fine job with Valleyfield and his club is a serious contender for the Allan Cup play downs . . . Chick McLaughlin, who captained the 1912 Harvard baseball club, is basking in the sun at Miami Beach along with Bill Delaney and Dan O'Brien . . . Frank Leahy, the new Eagles' football coach will be back in town tomorrow to meet the Boston College alumni at the University Club . . . And, Frank will sell himself to that body, one hundred per cent . . . General Manager Eddie Collins has received the signed contracts of Frank Dasso, the strikeout king of the Eastern League last season and Tommy Irwin, who played in the infield for Milwaukee last year, and joined the Red Sox family in the trade with the Cleveland Indians . . . Strange as it may seem, the Americans are bigger favorites in New York than the Rangers . . . Owner Bradley of the Cleveland Indians will not breathe normally until he is assured that Bob Feller has arrived safely in New Orleans . . . Judging from his numerous arrests for speeding, Feller must have started life as a southpaw . . . Jules Dugal is the toast of Montreal. On his first time out as a bench manager, Jules piloted the Flying Frenchmen to a 1 to 0 victory over the Black Hawks . . . At the rate they have been slipping since Bill Stewart was let out, the Hawks will wind up in the Provincial League . . . There are less than twenty unsold tickets for the third annual Boston Chapter Baseball Writers' dinner . . . Tom Kanaly says that the 50th annual B.A.A. games will be the best ever held in this section.

Cash, Carry Pyle Back in 'Chips'

By Associated Press

Never saw such a rush to get aboard the baseball bandwagon . . . First Gehrig, then Foxx, now Gomez . . . Foxx, who has been yelling $40,000 all winter, signed for around $30,000 . . . Only way Beantown scribes can figure it out is that Eddie Collins talked him into taking part of it in cash and part in Hall of Fame prospects . . . Bobby Jones came up from Atlanta yesterday for the funeral of H. H. Ramsay, ex-president of the U. S. G. A.

The break between La Henie and Hugo Quist, her old mentor, will be made permanent when they pow wow in Miami soon . . . Walter Hagen was introduced in Seattle the other day as the man who has "shot birdies in England, tigers in India and craps in Africa" . . . Ernie Lombardi of the Reds is the next big leaguer on Dan Cupid's list unless somebody jumps the gun . . . Everyone up this way glad to hear "Cash and Carry" Pyle (remember him?) is back in the chips again . . . Jimmy Phelan's Washington Huskies are riddled by flunk-outs.

SONJA HENIE

Dr. D. M. Nigro of Kansas City, who founded the "Rockne Club" to perpetuate the memory of the late Notre Dame coaching wizard, has more than 300 programs of college football games . . . With the Olympics only 18 months away, the guy leading the mile field is Glenn Cunningham—by a mile and a half . . . Note to Van Mungo: MacPhail is back from the West tougher'n ever . . . He says: "I'm not counting on Mungo; I don't want to even think about him." . . . Gabby Hartnett and Al Simmons talked over the baseball situation from adjoining tubs in a Hot Springs bath house.

John Williams, New York U's trainer, is whipping pneumonia in French hospital . . . the South Atlantic Association will go in for the all-star game idea this summer . . . Red Ruffing who, at 34, is pitching the best ball of his career, attributes his success to control . . . those reports that Henry Armstrong wants to chuck it are bobbing up again . . .

Fred Perry still is pining away for Helen Vinson from whom he has been separated for months . . . Los Angeles scribes are rolling up their sleeves to go to work on the city commissioners . . . They want to know why pro football was banned from the Coliseum and the gates flung wide for the Messrs. Vines and Budge . . . Mr. Carl Storck has been named receiver for the Dayton Ducks of the Middle Atlantic League . . . Louisiana State has a three-passenger airplane the better to scout its football opponent . . . it also has a middleweight boxer who is going places.
